INTRODUCTION

Kolhapur Record Office has a large number of documents pertaining to Rajarshi Shahu's regime. A Descriptive Catalogue of these documents numbering about 50 thousand has been prepared. The present catalogue is a part of the whole scheme. In this catalogue, documents from Rimal Nos. 36 to 43 have been listed.

The period of 1918 to 1920 in the Raja's life was very momentous. The Raja is seen attending to family affairs of his 'Maratha Samaj' etc. He is also seen sending 'good wishes' for the new year to his European friends and 'congratulations' to the brother Maharajas' newly-born sons etc. Hunting was dear to Shahu Maharaj. Letters listed here show how Shahu Maharaj was fascinated by the game of 'Cheeta hunting'. Shahu Maharaj had very cordial relations with other Chiefs.

Social Activities

A special feature of these records is that they give us lot of information about Maharaja's social activities. The Raja conveys his views to the British Government about Home Rule Movement led by Tilak and his comrades. He also expressed his opinion to Montague on the Montague-Chelmsford Report. He was of the opinion that the Indian Princes got what they asked for. Shahu had presided over the Maratha Conference at Khamgaon and delivered a speech. After this speech, the records say, that the hostile activities of the Brahmins started. Government permitted Shahu Maharaj to preside over the Social Conference at Hubli and advised him to make a reference to the physical and moral development of the Backward Classes in his lectures.

The records speak of how the Maharaja took decision to hand over the management of both the Rajaram High School and the Rajaram College to the Arya Pratinidhi Sabha, United Provinces for 5 years and directed that the Darbar would reconsider the matter, thereafter.

There are a lot of documents relating to abolition of the Mahar Vatan. In order to abolish the Mahar Vatan which had tied down the Mahars to their tiny Vatan for ages, Shahu took another step on September 18, 1918 and transferred the lands of the Mahar Vatan to them as assessed lands and abolished their slavery. He also wrote to Col. Woodhouse explaining why he encouraged the activities of the Arya Samaj in the State and advocated the teaching of the Arya Samaj. He presided over the meeting of the Kurmi Kshatriya Association at Kanpur. Then we learn that the Maharaja's action with regard to abolition of 'Kulkarni Vatan' was criticised in Kesari. We also know that the 'Vedokta Movement' in Kolhapur was piloted by the Maharaja. He also granted financial help to the Maratha Educational Conference. The Maharaja called off the Satyagrah Movement which was started to instigate the farmers not to till the lands of Kulkarni Vatan. He also thought of giving medical treatment to the poor Darbar Servants. His idea of going to England for advocating the clause of the Backward Classes was appreciated by the British Government. He also sanctioned a donation to 'Gurukul Vrindavan' at Mathura. The Maharaja decided to present a Golden Sword to Shri Prasad, Secretary of the All India Kurmi Kshatriya Association in appreciation of his services towards the cause of his community.

He took up the work for uplift of depressed classes. He also presided at the All India Depressed Classes' Conference at Nagpur in 1920 and prepared a rough draft expressing his views about inter-caste marriages. He also received suggestions from one doctor for introduction of a scheme of nosewash for prevention of influenza and arranged to popularise it. There are many Greeting cards preserved in the records. He received 'happy birthday greetings for his great success' in fulfilling his ambition of uplift of the non-Brahmins and depressed classes.

War Efforts

His war efforts were admired by the British Government and his proposal for recruitment and holding a Recruitment Meet was accepted by the Government. He was also permitted to arrange a meeting for collecting War loans. He constituted a small committee for war efforts and asked his son to arrange recruitment meets in and out of the Kolhapur State. He also took up the recruiting work in the villages. He subscribed for creating a hut for a club for Indian troops in Belgaum. The Raja was consulted by the British in the matter of the shifting of the Maratha Light Infantry, from Kolhapur to Belgaum, despatch of 200 copies of War songs and about disbandment of the Kolhapur Special Battalion. The British Government admired his work during famine times and war times and asked him to grant a small donation to open a new canteen building for the Indian Soldiers. He was also informed late on that Government had decided to give special distinction to the Maratha Regiment for its bravery. He was also credited for retention of the Kolhapur Special Battalion. British Government expressed satisfaction over the Maharaja's recruitment work in the Kolhapur State. The Government of India reposed so much confidence in him that he was specially intimated about the signing of the treaty by Germany. The Maharaja was thanked for his staunch support and general help afforded by the Kolhapur State during the period of War. The Maharaja celebrated the Peace Treaty in Kolhapur and requested the people of Kolhapur to participate in the function arranged for the reading of the terms and conditions of the Peace Treaty. The records speak of how the Maharaja raised the War loans. The Government of India also sought Raja Shahu's advice regarding recruitment of Ramoshis in the Army.

Educational Activities

Records published here do not give us a connected story of the Maharaja's educational activities. Only stray references to them are found in these records. Educational authorities in the city were asked to purchase copies of the book करवीर महात्म्य व यात्रा प्रकाश for being distributed as prizes. Raja Shahu expressed to Dr. Wanless his intention to visit Mission High School. His views regarding the needs of education for the agriculturists was accepted by Mr. H. Harrison. The Government of India asked Shahu Maharaj to express his views on free education. So also the organiser of the League of Empire had written to Shahu Maharaj to contribute for a building for the teachers in the country. He had a correspondence with the Arya Samajists in the U. P. about development of educational institutions in Kolhapur. The result was that the administration of the College and School and conduction of religious education in Schools and Colleges was handed over to the Arya Pratinidhi Sabha. His sanctioning of Freeships for Maratha students, grant of a scholarship to a student in Dehra Dun College, recommendation of a student for Sandhurst Cadetship, obtaining information about the institution for training masters, proposal on the necessity of organising the Gurukul Education Department at Kolhapur, are some of the educational activities depicted in the records.

Protection of the Crops

The Maharaja took various measures to protect the crops. He issued orders to the village officers to kill pigs who destroys the crops. For this purpose, revolvers from the Darbar were distributed to the Patils and they were held responsible for the weapons.

The other records speak about the conference regarding the Princes' Assembly, the publication of the proceedings of the Conferences, preparation of agenda for the Conferences, the composition of the Princes' Council, his views regarding admission of smaller States to the Princes' Council, minutes of the proceedings of the informal meetings, report on Indian Constitutional Reforms, visit of distinguished persons to the Kolhapur State and administrative work of the State.

If the records are pieced together under the heads mentioned above they will yield much more important and authentic information on the Maharaja's activities during the period 1918 to 1920.
